E2 2009n OCLC Number: (OCoLC)613333786 Subject: Predatory lending -- United States. Excerpt: . . . Chapter 2 Depreciating Federal Investments infrastructure investments would justify the cost of determining the assets value. OECD nations, none appropriates depreciation for Among the 24 infrastructure assets in its national budget. Even New Zealand, the only OECD nation that uses depreciation in its budget, does not appropriate depreciation for infrastructure assets that are owned by the government as 4 New construction of roads and other infrastructure assets a whole. owned by the New Zealand government as a whole are appropriated up front on a cash basis. In this instance, New Zealands system is, in principle, similar to the system that is used to budget for highways in the United States. Infrastructure assets not owned by the New Zealand government are not depreciated by the government for either budgeting or financial reporting purposes. However, for accounting purposes, in cases where the government owns transportation infrastructure assets, the assets are depreciated using the current replacement cost method in the governments financial statements. Officials at the National Science Foundation (NSF) told us that they do not Depreciation of R and D depreciate R and D and advised us that they could imagine no reasonable Investments method or practical reason for doing so. Major impediments to depreciation include establishing the value and useful life of R and D. Also, s R and D funds are usually disbursed through grants for which there is no NSF established method of depreciation. Depreciation of R and D investment has been proposed and considered for FASB the private sector, but not practiced. prohibits...
